

Individual / Institutional Volunteers

Welcome aboard. The Foundation volunteers (individuals and institutions) shall help with matters relevant and important to the Beneficiary Members and their constituents. Having knowledgeable experts in various fields and living in several countries willing to help / support / teach / guide them provides the recipients comfort and confidence to take charge of their own destiny.

Individual Volunteers: Individuals (including, but not limited to: Teachers, Artists, Leaders, CEOs, CFOs, CTOs, CIOs, Officers, Technicians, Engineers, Lawyers, Accountants, Professors, Deans, Faculty, Doctors, Dentists, Healthcare professionals, Nutritionists, Environmental scientists, IT / Biotech experts, etc.) shall register as 'Individual Volunteer'. They shall interact with the Beneficiary Members and their respective constituents to share / teach / mentor / guide, etc. via online web portal, email, tele-conferencing and Tele-Education facilities.

What Can I do? Plenty of ways to help and volunteer in this worthwhile cause.

Any of us:

- ✓ Volunteer for an hour or two, one day a week or more, per one's schedule and desire.
- ✓ Be a mentor / coach / cheer-leader for budding entrepreneurs among the beneficiaries.
- ✓ Share an important experience or business strategy with the upcoming entrepreneurs.
- ✓ Inform friends, colleagues & neighbors and show them how to volunteer in these projects.

Educators:

- ✓ Teach / educate the youth and elderly who are eager to learn about things that matter to them.
- ✓ Understand and provide practical solutions to overcome local adversities and limitations.
- ✓ Offer modern solutions in farming, food preservation, processing, packing and marketing.
- ✓ Explore alternative energy generation and self-sufficiency in solar, wind, bio-mass, etc.

Healthcare professionals:

- ✓ Tele-Medicine consultation in your area of healthcare expertise.
- ✓ Offer dental health, preventive health, cancer prevention, good health programs online.
- ✓ Provide veterinary medical advice where cattle play an essential part of the lives and commerce.

Industry leaders, Legal, Accounting, and other professionals:

- ✓ Offer Business 101 and related programs to Beneficiary registrants online.
- ✓ Offer Financing 101, Accounting 101 type programs to Beneficiary registrants online.

Help with fund requirements:

- ✓ Provide IT Equipment (Monitors, broadband access, internet communication, etc.)
- ✓ Raise funds to support establishing nodal IT centers, libraries, etc. in beneficiary sites
- ✓ Contact Rural Developmental agencies for grants supporting education, development, employment, etc.
- ✓ Focused fund raising to help health screenings, vaccination projects, .
- ✓ Funds for educational programs, sponsoring education supplies, etc.

Quality Assurance: Very important the Beneficiary Members are assured that the Institutional Partners and Individual Volunteers are well qualified to provide the help each offers. The ultimate success of the entire mission depends on such trust in each of us and the assurance to maintain quality at all times.

Application & Registration: Please submit the online application. The submitted data will be kept confidential and used only within our close-knit group that oversee the Foundation activities and not released to any outside agency. Tele-Volunteering Disclaimers:

- 1) The International 'We Serve' Foundation [aka: the 'Foundation'] sincerely hopes the support / mentoring / help / suggestions / recommendations, etc., made possible by the participation of a number of charity minded individual volunteers, philanthropic organizations, institutes, entities, etc. will prove quite useful to the recipients and others who choose to review these. By no means these are an exhaustive discussion on the topic nor as a legal / medical / business or any other kind of advice.
- 2) The Tele-Voluntary help to the recipient / primary care provider(s) in various parts of the world is a charitable service provided by dedicated individuals and entities so that the end-user becomes self-sufficient in any area / field / sector they decide to pursue.
- 3) The relevance / suitability / applicability / effectiveness of any help / advice / support offered may vary from one place to another, from one person to another, from one time to another - based on lot of factors too numerous to list – such as existing local conditions (cultural, traditional, economic, political, societal norms, etc.), laws, regulatory formalities, etc.
- 4) No finite result or success can be implied, predicted or guaranteed under any circumstance, as these ultimately depend on so many external factors. It is hoped the recipient will become self-sufficient and empowered, using the Tele-Volunteering help as a catalyst to achieve their own goals and dreams.
- 5) The information shared, even after review of the materials presented is not an exhaustive review of the subject or topic being discussed.
- 6) This Tele-Volunteering is not intended to establish a provider-client relationship nor does it create a physician-patient relationship with a recipient / reader.
- 7) This Tele-Volunteering does not replace the physician-patient relationship that exists between the recipient and the respective care provider(s).
- 8) The information conveyed via any modality, including email, blog post, Tele-Conferencing, etc. is not intended to provide the definitive statement on the subject addressed.
- 9) This is no substitute for professional advice sought from a suitable professional who has full access to the recipient in order to provide a thorough examination and then render a professional evaluation.
- 10) Especially in emergencies the advice / information given [however well intended] should not be relied upon before or to the exclusion of an in-person evaluation.
- 11) The recipient, including the Primary Care giver understands the Tele-Volunteering discussion is based entirely on the limited information provided to the Volunteer. This may not be adequate or complete for one to arrive at a comprehensive plan of action and cannot be a substitute for a detailed direct, personal evaluation, subsequent assessment and recommendation for further course of action.

- 12) The Tele-Volunteering provided in a number of ways, using various modalities by the various participants represents the views / perceptions of those offering these and not necessarily those of the Foundation nor any of its officers or board of Directors, affiliates, etc.
- 13) The recipients / end-users and their respective legal guardian understand the significant limitations of this Tele-Volunteering efforts. By making use of these, they signify they have read and understood these terms and conditions and hereby indemnify the Tele-Volunteers and the Foundation from any legal claims or compensation of any kind.
